FIGHT TO FINISH IN NEW COUNTY

And a Dual Government
Now Prevails.

TWO JUDGES SIT IN CONFLICT

Contest in McCreary County
Brings Up Complications
Hard To Unravel.

BADLY MIXED MUNICIPALITY

Somerset, Ky., April 5.—The newly created county of McCreary, which was carved out of remote portions of Pulaski, Whitley and Wayne counties, seems to be making a reputation for itself as a dual county. For some little time it has had two Executive County Committees in both the Democratic and Republican party, now it takes another step forward in that direction and has two County Judges, one Democrat and one Republican. Both, so reports from there say, are transacting legal business and presiding in courtly manner. This latter duality comes about by reason of a recent decision of the Court of Appeals which held the election of November, when J. E. Williams, Republican, was elected County Judge, as legal, and directs Gov. McCreary to issue Williams a commission. Gov. McCreary, however, is allowed thirty days in which to file a petition for rehearing and will not issue any commission to Williams until said petition has been passed on, either overruling his motion for rehearing of the case, or else granting such motion, and, in the meantime, Harry Jones, who was appointed County Judge by Gov. McCreary, is still retaining his judgeship. Williams, after the Court of Appeals rendered its decision, it seems, has also taken up the reins of government as County Judge and the new county now has two men claiming to be the real goods when it comes to the judgeship of that county. Just what this will lead to and what kind of a tangle the court records will be in when the matter is finally determined is difficult to foretell.

Most of these dualities come about by reason of the keen rivalry between the two contesting towns for the county seat, Pine Knot and Whitley City. Whatever and whoever one of these little towns is for, the other is dead sure to be violently opposed to.

Williams, who was elected County Judge on the Republican ticket at the November election, is a resident of Whitley City, while Judge Jones, McCreary's appointee, is a resident and strong advocate of Pine Knot.

In the election for the selection of a county seat, Whitley City won by something less than 200 majority, but the election was contested on the grounds that the same was not legal and the matter, after a hearing on an interlocutory matter before one member of the Court of Appeals, is now before that body proper for final adjudication.

There was also a suit filed in the Wayne Circuit Court some time ago attacking the constitutionality of the act creating McCreary county, and asking that it be annulled, but this case has not yet been tried out in the lower court.

The fight to get the new county created was one of the hardest ever made before a legislative body. It is known that the committee in the Senate, on the night before the last day of the session of that body, voted to report the bill unfavorably, but all the machinery of the administration got immediately in behind it and had another meeting of the committee when the bill was reported out and passed the Senate late in the afternoon of the last day of the session of the Legislature and was signed by the Governor in a few minutes after its passage.

Events in the new county have been following thick and fast.

LOSES SUIT GROWING OUT OF POPULARITY CONTEST

Elkton, Ky., April 5.—In the Todd Circuit Court Judge Sandage decided the case of Miss Carrie A. Johnson vs. J. Marshall Linnell in favor of the defendant, holding that the evidence did not sustain the charge of fraud or entitle the plaintiff to recover. The suit grew out of a popularity case conducted by a number of business firms of Guthrie, in which a $350 piano was the prize, and the plaintiff claimed that through the wrongful and fraudulent acts of the defendant, Linnell, one of those conducting the contest, about 20,000 votes that were cast for her were not counted, thereby causing her defeat in the contest.

SIX VICTIMS OF FLOOD SLEEP IN ONE BIG GRAVE

Williamstown, Ky., April 5.—This village was this afternoon the scene of one of the most remarkable events in its history, when six members of a family were laid side by side in one large grave.

They were James Porter, wife and four children, all of whom were drowned last week in the Dayton (Ohio) flood. The bodies arrived here last night.

The flood conditions did not permit their shipment earlier. Six hearses were driven in solemn procession to the grave, each carrying the body of one of the victims.

Scores of people from all sections of the county visited the undertaking establishment and viewed the bodies, and hundreds followed them to the burying ground.

The Porter family formerly resided near this place, and they had a large number of relatives here.

MOTHER OF DROWNED BOY IS CRAZED BY HER GRIEF

Lexington, Ky., April 5.—Mrs. Elijah Carr, who lives near Millersburg, in Bourbon county, has become insane and is physically prostrated by the shock from her son having been drowned in Hinkston creek during the flood a week or more ago, and the body not having been recovered. The boy was drowned by falling from the horse on which he had ridden into the creek, and an older brother who accompanied him almost lost his life in a futile effort to rescue. As soon as the flood in the creek had in a measure subsided the stream was dynamited from the point where the boy had fallen in, to Ruddle's Mill, a distance of four miles, in the hope of bringing the body to the surface. This proving futile, the Licking river into which the creek empties, was searched for some distance but no trace of the body was found.

SOCIETY "GENTS" PUT TO WORK AS LABORERS

Lexington, Ky., April 5.—Norman King and Elwood Akers, two well known young society men of this city, who went to Dayton, O., on their motorcycles three days ago on a sightseeing expedition to view the damage the flood did, report in a letter to associates here an unusual and unlucky experience.

In the little town of Franklin, O., which is under martial law, they were pressed into service under the emergency regulations prevailing there and put to work as common laborers to help clean up the city. Their first work was to help clean out the court house cellar and disinfest basements and other places where refuse had accumulated. Their soft palms and Sunday clothes did not prevent a shovel being placed in their hands for use, and in their letters to their folks here they say there is no place like home.

When we say Selling Out, we mean that we are going away in the next sixty days, and before we go we are going to sell every dollar's worth of goods in this store. Our Selling Out prices are so low that we are confident there will not be a dollar's worth of merchandise left.

KILLS SELF WHEN SHE IS PURSUED

And Cornered By Her Negro Husband.

SCION ARISTOCRATIC FAMILY

Apparently Married Negro
To Take Revenge on Divorced Spouse.

PITIFUL END OF LONE WOMAN

St. Louis, April 5.—Mrs. Julia McFarlane Gerhart, divorced wife of Charles B. Gerhart, brother of Frank H. Gerhart, Progressive candidate for Mayor of St. Louis, died this afternoon as the result of taking poison with suicidal intent, at the home of Mrs. Adeline Cox. Later Mrs. Cox announced that after her divorce, Mrs. Gerhart had married a negro.

Mrs. Gerhart, as she was known here, took the poison that resulted in her death two days ago and since then had been unconscious. She took the drug after a long spell of brooding because her negro husband had followed her from St. Paul to St. Louis and insisted on seeing her.

Mrs. Gerhart was divorced last November, and 15 days later, according to Mrs. Cox, she married a negro, L. W. Kellogg, at St. Paul. Kellogg formerly was butler in the Gerhart home.

Mrs. Gerhart was an ardent horsewoman and huntress. In her divorce petition filed last September, she said that Gerhart was worth $300,000, but that since their separation the preceding April he had given her but $30 for her support. She was granted alimony of $2,100 a year.

Mrs. Cox said that soon after Mrs. Gerhart came to her boarding house to live the negro Kellogg began to call on her. Mrs. Cox objected to these visits, but Mrs. Gerhart answered that the negro was her butler and came to see her on business.

About a month ago, when the negro, called at the house, Mrs. Cox refused to admit him. Thereupon he showed a marriage certificate to Mrs. Cox, and said:

"This woman is my wife. I have a right to see her."

Mrs. Cox took the negro to Mrs. Gerhart and asked if she was his wife. Mrs. Gerhart, according to Mrs. Cox, did not answer. Thereafter Mrs. Cox did not allow the negro in the house.

Mrs. Gerhart was a scion of an aristocratic family, being the niece of the late Chief Justice George B. McFarlane, of the Missouri Supreme Court.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OF DAVIESS A. S. OF E.

The Owensboro Inquirer of Sunday says:

There was a good attendance present at the meeting of the Daviess county local of the American Society of Equity, which met in executive session in Owensboro on Friday afternoon.

Every local in the county was represented and the forming of plans for the reorganization of the county, and the election of delegates to the district meeting at Hawesville, on April 17, were the chief features of the meeting.

There will be a large number of new unions organized, and other steps taken toward increasing the interest of the Equity society. The chairman of the meeting appointed a committee to report back at a called meeting to be held on May 9.

SPECIAL SESSION NOW ASSEMBLES

Called For Complete Revision of the Tariff.

MANY NEW FACES ARE SEEN

For the First Time In 18 Years Democrats Are In Complete Control.

SUFFRAGISTS ON THE SCENE

Washington, April 7.—The House of Representatives of the Sixty-third Congress this afternoon re-elected Speaker Clark. He received 271 votes; James R. Mann, of Illinois, Republican, received 111 votes, and Victor Murdock, of Kansas, Progressive, received eighteen votes.

Four Progressive Republicans voted for Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin. Mr. Cooper voted for Representative Nelson, of Minnesota.

The sixty-third Congress, the first in many years with the followers of Thomas Jefferson in a majority, began business at noon.

Just as Speaker Clark was dropping his gavel in the House, Majority Leader Underwood dropped the tariff revision bill into the hopper and thereby officially started a business that promises to keep Congress at work through the Washington "dog days" and well into August.

While the legislators were finding their new seats a procession of woman suffragettes representing every congressional district in the United States invaded the Capitol and presented petitions demanding a constitutional amendment for equal suffrage.

In the House the day's proceedings were principally of organization. The re-election of Speaker Clark was the first business after about 100 new members had been sworn in. Most new Senators, however, had been sworn in on inauguration day.

Vice President Marshall called the Senate to order and administered the oath to Senators-elect Sherman, of Illinois, and Goff, of West Virginia.

A complete revision of the tariff law; modification of the nation's currency system; proposals for Philippine independence; for the repeal of the Panama canal free toll provision, and for the immediate construction of Government-owned railways in Alaska, are the chief problems confronting the first session of the new Congress.

Summoned by President Wilson for the express purpose of revising the tariff, the new Congress faces extreme pressure from many quarters for early action on the other subjects named. Whether any of these other than the tariff will be taken up during the special session depends upon the progress made with the tariff revision and the success that may attend preliminary work upon a general currency reform bill.

For the first time in eighteen years Congress assembles with both its branches under control of the Democrats, and with a Democratic President to co-operate in shaping its policies and to approve its acts. The tariff law to be passed by the special session that opens to-day will be the first general Democratic revision of the revenue laws since the act of August 27, 1894, known to history as the "Wilson-Gorman law," and which President Cleveland allowed to become a law without his signature.

Teachers May Have to Wait.

Frankfort, Ky., April 5.—Many county superintendents attending the meeting here have made inquiries about when they are to receive their February apportionment of the Stat school fund, amounting to half a million dollars. It was explained to them that there is in the fund now $380,639.30. This last payment must be in full and the warrant cannot be met until about $125,000 more is received into the fund in the treasury. That will be probably within the next thirty days.

Governors from nine States have signified their intention of attending the Conference for Education in the South at Richmond, Va., April 15.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson paid a visit to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington and investigated the employment conditions with relation to girls.

FARMERS GUARD THEIR PLANTBEDS

At Night With Shotguns, Fearing Trouble.

$1,000 REWARD IS OFFERED

For the Apprehension and Conviction of the Grass Seed Sowers.

MEN ALTERNATE AS GUARDS

The destruction of beds in the Barron and Anthoston sections last Thursday night, the banding together of farmers, to maintain watch at night over plant beds, and the announcement that many farmers in several sections of the county had divided themselves into squads in an attempt to capture the invaders and secure the $1,000 reward offered for their conviction, are the developments in the tobacco situation, says the Henderson Gleaner.

The Gleaner's correspondent at Baskett stated Wednesday night that beds had been sown with grass seed on the farms of George Cheatham, Thomas Enoch, William Green, Floyd Edwards, Lee Baskett and A. H. Harding. Most of the farmers have been heard to make the statement that they would not replant their beds, saying they believe the agency at work is too powerful to oppose and that any effort to raise a crop this year would be a waste of energy. On the other hand comes the report from Hebardsville that probably half of the farmers of that section are making arrangements to replant their beds and will guard them with their lives.

The bed of Sam Brooks, of the Barron country, was visited Tuesday night. Brooks planted his bed Tuesday afternoon and found Wednesday morning that his work had been to no avail. Robert Jordan's plant bed near Anthoston was also destroyed Tuesday night.

From several sections of the county come the reports that farmers whose beds have not been visited, intend to keep out the depredators. Farmers living in the same neighborhood have entered into an agreement to alternate on watch, going on at 6 o'clock at night and guarding the beds with guns slung across their shoulders until 6 o'clock the next morning. In many neighborhoods several growers burned their beds in the same woods and farmers who have done this are the ones who have banded together to maintain a vigil.

It will be five or six weeks before it will be time to draw the plants from the beds and plant them in the fields, but the farmers will stand guard during all this time.

J. Stokes Taylor, general manager of the Henderson county pool, who has offered a reward of $1,000 for conviction of the guilty party or parties, told the Gleaner yesterday that growers in different parts of the county had organized into squads to apprehend the depredators and will divide the reward should the parties be caught and convicted.

Lee Eakins and other prominent tobacco growers of the Robards section were in the city Wednesday consulting attorneys in regard to the steps to be taken to run to earth those guilty of sowing tobacco plant beds with grass seed.

They received advice which they refused to divulge, but stated they would make it uncomfortable for plant bed depredators.

In sixty days our store will close for good. Every dollar's worth of merchandise MUST BE SOLD.

DIRECTIONS HOW TO RAISE CORN

Which Are of Special Benefit to Boys in

THEIR COUNTY CORN CLUBS

How To Select the Land and Seed, Preparation of Seed Bed, Etc.

PLANTING AND CULTIVATING

The Agricultural Department of the Western Kentucky State Normal School, Bowling Green, Ky., has issued the following directions for corn cultivation in Kentucky:

Selection of Land.

1. See that land is well drained and as fertile as can be secured on the farm.
2. If possible to obtain, an acre not cultivated in corn last year is most desirable.
3. If there is a fall plowed field of clover or other sod, cow peas or pasture land on the farm, select an acre from that.

Fertilizing.

1. Use an abundance of well-rotted stable manure, if obtainable. Apply after land is plowed and work into soil thoroughly (25 tons is not too much if well worked in). Part of the manure may be applied before plowing if thought best.

2. If commercial fertilizer is used, one analyzing as nearly as possible, nitrogen, 3 per cent., phosphoric acid, 10 per cent., and potash, 2 per cent., is recommended. From 250 lbs. to 500 lbs. per acre should be drilled into the ground with a wheat drill about two weeks before planting. (Do not put fertilizer in the hill).

Preparation of Seed Bed.

1. BREAKING—(a) Fall breaking is best. (b) For spring breaking turn soil not less than 8 inches and deeper if not more than an inch of clay subsoil is turned up. Better plow 12 to 16 inches deep if the subsoil permits.

2. PULVERIZING — Before planting thoroughly fine the soil as deep as possible, using disk or cutting harrow until manure is thoroughly mixed with soil. The land should be like a garden or ash pile.

Seed.

Get your seed corn from the best crop that has grown in your section of country. The variety does not matter so that it is known to have high yielding qualities. (If you have trouble in getting satisfactory seed, inform your County Superintendent and it will be attended to).

Planting.

1. Either in hills 3 feet 8 inches each way, or drills 18 inches, in rows 3 feet 8 inches apart.
2. Plant 3 inches deep.
3. If corn needs thinning or replanting see to it as early as possible. (Try for uniformity).
4. Plant as soon as suits your conditions after April 15th.

Cultivation.

1. Any time from planting to four days afterward, harrow the ground smooth with a light harrow. (Do not harrow or roll after it is up if you can avoid it).
2. Cultivate every week or ten days with fine tooth cultivator, or one-horse harrow, from time corn is large enough until it tassels.
3. Keep corn free from weeds. They take up the moisture that the soil needs.
4. If bull-tongues are used they should be small ones.

Very Important.

Never work in soil when it is too wet, and never cultivate over two fitches deep. (It will do more harm than good).

Study carefully all publications sent you, and keep a careful record of time (horses and men), material and money used on the acre. These will figure in your grade at the end of the work.

Respectfully submitted,
FRED MUTCHLER.

HE USES PRESCRIPTION TAKEN FROM THE BIBLE

A colored man walked into the store of the Weatherhead Pharmacy company at Sixth and Vine streets, Cincinnati, the other day, and told the clerk that he wished a prescription filled. The clerk asked for the prescription, and the colored man took a small Bible from beneath his arm and pointed to a passage.

Puzzled, the clerk summoned Herman Brunke, the druggist, who read the passage, which was Exodus, xxx, 23-24. It read as follows: "23—Take thou also unto thee principal spices, of pure myrrh 500 shekels and of sweet cinnamon half so much, even 250 shekels and of sweet calamus 250 shekels. 24—

And of cassia 200 shekels after the shekel of the sanctuary and of olive oil a hin."

The prescription is referred to in the synopsis of the chapter as "the holy anointing oil." In the same chapter, verse 13, it states that a shekel is twenty gerahs.

Brunke went to the library, and, after delving in old volumes, found that a shekel was 244½ grains and a hin 1 gallon and prepared the prescription according to those proportions. All the ingredients mentioned are in common use to-day.

When the colored man returned for the prescription Brunke learned, upon inquiry, that he was the Rev. J. Y. Browne, a traveling evangelist of the Christian Faith band, and intended to use the anointing oil, the preparation of which was handed down by God to Moses, upon his communicants.

The Rev. Mr. Browne stated that he may soon need some more of the ointment.

THRILLING ESCAPES OF PROF. HOEING FROM FLOOD

In Eastern Kentucky—He Went Through Some Harrowing Experiences.

Frankfort, Ky., April 4.—Prof. J. B. Hoeing, director of the Geological Survey, has returned from the vicinity of Whitesburg, Letcher county, after covering 200 miles either on foot or in boat, arriving at Ashland with the first authentic news out of the Big Sandy Valley. He said when he passed through Jenkins and McRoberts provisions were growing scarce in those towns. Efforts were made to carry provisions there in wagons, but the roads were washed out and in many places impassable, and the railroads have ceased operating. He doubts whether provisions can be taken into the towns any way except on the backs of men. The fall is so great, however, in that section that as soon as the Ohio permits, the water will run out of the mountains.

Prof. Hoeing was with a survey camp a short distance from Whitesburg. He started away as soon as the perils of the situation became apparent. He left Whitesburg Thursday and did not reach Ashland until Sunday. He had attempted to telegraph to his family at Lexington, but after he reached home he received by mail the money he had paid for sending the message. The wires were useless.

He found that it was impossible to make his way over the mountains horseback and set out afoot. He caught a ride on a handcar for seven miles in a blinding snowstorm, climbed mountains, the roads of which were obliterated by landslides and washing, and slid down the opposite slopes, risking his life every hour. At Louisa he was rowed across the river and made his way to Kenova, W. Va., where trainloads of passengers had been abandoned. All the way up the river he saw freight and passenger trains standing on the tracks in the water, abandoned with their engines. He tried to secure the only motor boat in Kenova to go to Catlettsburg, but the chief of police said it was the only means they had of rescuing people from the flood, and just at that moment the boatman announced to the chief that they were out of gasoline and there was no more in town.

Another wayfarer suggested to Prof. Hoeing that if they could get to Catlettsburg they would find a good hotel. They secured a skiff and were rowed across, but when they approached the hotel, dodging the branches of trees that almost brushed them out of the boat, they saw boatmen taking guests out of a second story window. Their own boatman then rowed them to the nearest hill, whence they made their way by a circuitous route into Ashland. With the water supply cut off and the gas gone, guests at the hotel in Ashland were living meagerly, and candles were burned for lights.

"My little son had a very severe cold. I was recommended to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and before a small bottle was finished he was as well as ever," writes Mrs. H. Silks, 29 Dowling street, Sydney, Australia. This remedy is for sale by all dealers.

"I want a five-cent loaf of bread." "White or brown?" "Either will do; it's for a blind man."

THE BASIC CAUSE FOR GREAT FLOOD

Which Has Swept Country Recently.

FATAL WATERS RUSHED DOWN

Great Continental Slope Into the Mammoth Continental Valley.

FLOODING OHIO AND INDIANA

(A. F. Ferguson in Louisville Herald.)

What is the reason for the great flood that swept death and destruction before it in Ohio and Indiana? Why is it that great walls of water annually hurl themselves through the Ohio Valley or the Mississippi Valley?

When the continent of North America was raised from the waters that covered the globe, the peaks of the Appalachian Mountains appeared first; then came parts of the Rockies and then the Central Plain; the very first part of which to appear was the part now stricken with flood.

All parts of this country south of the Ohio river remained under water long after Ohio and Indiana emerged. But on the part of dry land just made was a ridge, the summit of which is north of the central parts of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. This summit reaches a height of 1,000 feet above sea level at Bellefontaine, O., and the slope is so rapid to the south that Cincinnati is only 500 feet above sea level. Between the two points are Dayton and Columbus. Water that falls on one side of this summit flows south to the gulf. Water falling a few feet away on the other side flows to the Great Lakes.

When the southern part of the country rose above water, that section south of the Ohio sloped to the west toward the Mississippi and to the south, as shown by the courses of the Ohio, Cumberland, Tennessee and Mississippi rivers. The greatest slope was to the south.

This formation, therefore, left the particular section in Indiana and Ohio, where the worst of the floods are to-day, the very lowest part of the Central Plain and the slope from them ran straight south to the gulf in an almost unbroken line, forming a depressed basin wide at the top and narrowing to the points between the Appalachian and Ozark Mountains from which point it widened west to the Rio Grand and east to join the depression of Florida and the Atlantic coast.

This mammoth gully, therefore, was the natural outlet for all the excess moisture of a vast region.

It was on this foundation at the top of the slope that the ice of winter formed. It was here that the rain and snow fell, vast quantities of it, during the last few weeks. It was against this that the wind beat and held the rain that was melting the ice, in check. And then the wind suddenly slowed down. Its strength was not great enough to hold back the waters any longer. And the water poured forth over the land and engulfed it.

That is the explanation of the flood. The water will flow on, some of it will seep down into the soil as it goes and its volume will be reduced. It is hardly possible that so much will be lost in this way, however, that there will not be enough left to flood the Mississippi and break the levees.

It may find some sidetrack and more of it may be seeped up than we have estimated. Owing to the fact that much of the ice has gone from the southern section of the route it must follow, the ground there might be in condition to receive more of it. But a further flood, not so disastrous, seems almost inevitable along the lower portions of the great hollow, for the force of the water will not be able to spend itself over a wide area until after the narrow neck between the Ozarks and the Appalachians has been passed.

North of the Ohio-Indiana ridge, the same flood conditions prevail, but are not so severe because they drain directly into the Great Lakes and there are more channels provided for the drainage.

HOW WEDDING ITEM GOT MIXED WITH STOCK SALE

A paper in Nashville, Tenn., contained the following wedding item which got mixed up with a stock sale:

William Smith, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Smith, and Mrs. Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction, one mile east in the presence of seventy-five guests, including two mules and twelve head of cattle. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot for the parties, averaging 1,250 pounds on hoof. The beautiful bride of the bride was decorated with one sulky rake, one feed grinder and two sets of work harness, nearly new, and just before the wedding ceremony was pronounced, Mendel & Son's wedding march was rendered by one milch cow five years old, one Jersey cow and one sheep, who carried a bunch of bride's roses in her hand, was very beautiful. She wore one light wagon, two crates of apples, three racks of hay, one grindstone of milline desole and trimmed with 100 bushels of oats. The bridal couple left yesterday on an extended trip. Terms cash.

Constantinople, April 2.—The Turkish Government to-day declared that it unreservedly accepted the final terms of peace proposed by the European Powers. The Foreign Office to-day handed the Ottoman acceptance to the Dean of the Diplomatic Corps here and expressed the thanks of the nation to the Powers for their mediation.

Bulgaria, Friday last, notified the Powers that she would accept the proposed terms of peace but persisted in her demand for a war indemnity.

The fall of Adrianople is considered likely to have some influence on future negotiations. The terms of mediation proposed by the Powers are as follows:

"The frontier of the Ottoman Empire in Europe shall start at Enos and, following the course of the Maritza river and then that of the Ergene, shall end at Midia. All territories situated to the west of the line shall be ceded to Turkey by the allied States, with the exception of Albania, the delimitation of which shall be fixed by the Powers.

"The question of the Aegean Islands shall be settled by the Powers.

"Turkey shall abandon all claim to Crete.

"The Powers cannot favorably entertain the demand for indemnity, but they will permit the allies to participate in the discussions of the International Commission in Paris for an equitable settlement of their participation of the Ottoman debt and in the financial charges of the districts to be handed over to them. Turkey is to be asked to take part in the labors of this commission.

"The great Powers declare at the same time that as soon as these bases are accepted, hostilities shall cease."

Why He Was Late.

"What made you so late?"

"I met Smithson."

"Well, that is no reason why you should be an hour late getting home to supper."

"I know, but I asked him how he was feeling, and he insisted on telling me about his stomach trouble."

"Did you tell him to take Chamberlain's Tablets?"

"Sure, that is what he needs."

"FAGGED-OUT" WOMEN

Will Find a Helpful Suggestion In This Letter.

Overworked, run-down, "fagged out" women who feel as though they could hardly drag about, should profit by Miss Richter's experience. She says: "Last winter I was completely run down and felt fagged out all the time, was nervous and had indigestion."

"One of my friends advised me to take Vinol, and it has done me great good. The tired, worn-out feeling is all gone, and I am strong, vigorous and well. The stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have perfect digestion. I wish every tired, weak, nervous woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good as that I spent for Vinol." Marie Richter, Detroit, Mich.

Thousands of women and men who were formerly weak and sickly owe their present rugged health to the wonderful strength-giving effects of Vinol. We guarantee Vinol to build you up and make you strong. If it does not, we give back your money. James H. Williams, Druggist, Hartford, Ky.

MAKING FARMERS OF YOUNGSTERS

The Most Important Work Ahead of the Nation.

BOYS AND GIRLS OF THE FARM

Should Be Taught That Their Destiny Is One of the Greatest Possible.

FAMILY CONTESTS ARE GREAT

It has long been the custom for our boys and girls in the country, and in the city to sing in school and public assemblage of the Star-Spangled Banner and how it long may wave, but no one has ever suggested that they lift their voices in praise or adoration of the potato, the cornucopia or the wheat sheaf, without which there would be little nourishment in our national anthems. The time is coming along for epic thoughts on crops, and the future generation must be taught to build those epic thoughts, says a writer in the Country Gentleman.

Round about election time stump orators go through the rural places to read the voting farmer a psalm of plaudits; how great and important he is; how he is the bone and sinew of the nation—the sturdy oak upon which the city parasites twine and feed. The farmer's boy is patted on the head and solemnly informed he will be a man before his mother; that Abraham Lincoln was once a barefoot boy, and that George Washington was raised on a Virginia farm and milked cows and fed pigs before he chopped down the cherry tree.

The farmer's daughter also comes in for a few compliments, and then the wily politician goes on his way figuring on the vote he has secured for himself or his candidate. But once the vote is counted, the farmer, his boy and his girl are forgotten, and the smug orators concentrate all their energies on getting out of politics all there is in it, with now and then a sop thrown over the fence to keep the farmer good natured.

The very best feature about the present Government work in behalf of the boy and girl on the farm is that it is administrative and not legislative—that is, it is not subject to bills and measures, caucuses and committee conferences. The Bureau of Plant Industry and the Office of Farm Demonstration are doing their very best to let the world know what is doing.

Agents of these bureaus are working in the North, the South, the East and the West to establish boys' and girls' corn clubs, garden clubs, domestic training clubs and scores of other little enterprises to rouse the farmers-to-be and their wives-to-be to a realization that farming is a mighty big thing and filled with more wonders and mysteries than obtain in all the applied sciences bunched together.

It is up to the parents of these boys and girls to take hold and cooperate with Uncle Sam in this awakening and also to urge Uncle Sam to extend and vitalize the work. Too much publicity cannot be given the effort and too many bulletins and circulars and pamphlets cannot be written and printed and sent broadcast.

The parents of young Ernest Joye, of Williamsburg county, South Carolina, didn't think much of the notion of boys' corn clubs at first, but when Master Ernest marked off an acre of his father's fields and raised 207 bushels of corn on it last summer, Mr. and Mrs. Joye experienced the proudest and happiest moment of their lives. Son Ernest was awarded the prize of a free trip to Washington, where he was petted and praised by many of the great and famous who guide the helm of state.

Carlous Reddock, of Smith county, Mississippi, cropped 206 bushels from his acre and was one of 16 boys from 12 Southern States who got a free trip to the capital city. Twenty-one boys joined in this merry junket from Northern and Western States, 16 being from Illinois, where boys' corn clubs are being organized in every county and township and where every rural community is bending on its toes to the discovery that once you get the boys and girls stirred up over the big, substantial possibilities of farm life and farm work, those boys and girls are going to stop right at home and be just as big and important folks as farmers and farmers' wives as ever they could be as merchants and merchants' wives, lawyers and lawyers' wives, bankers and bankers' wives and so on through the list of Captains, Lieutenants and petty officers of industry. The farmer, when you come right down to the bone of things, turns the big wheel and all the others are merely glittering lesser wheels that couldn't move a notch if the farmer let down his hands.

The individual farmer, Government bulletins are advising, can start these contests and races right in his own family among his own boys by offering tempting prizes. Nor is there any reason why the girls shouldn't have their races, too. Let the girls go in for poultry raising, for the lighter forms of gardening that require watching and warding, but no great physical effort. The girls should be interested in the whole farm program, of course, and the more they learn about right farming methods the better partners they are going to make when they become wives.

SHAWNEETOWN SWEEP AWAY BY OHIO FLOOD

Only a Few Brick Buildings Are Left in the Depopulated Town of 3,000.

Shawneetown, Ill., April 3.—(By boat to Dekoven, Ky.)—All that is left to-night of Shawneetown is the few substantial brick and stone buildings behind the main levee, and they are considered unsafe. There are less than 100 persons left in the former town of 3,000. They are in the second and third stories of the Main-street buildings, the structures on the highest street in the town. A strong wind, rising at 10 o'clock this morning, completed the destruction begun by the opening of the south levee yesterday.

The water within the levees was up to the fifty-seven-foot level of the Ohio river. The forty-five mile an hour tempest lashed the broad waters of the Ohio into a rolling, tossing sea. The breakers dashed over the already submerged levees. Between the churning waters and the southwest gale frame buildings fell to pieces and the more substantial structures were shaken.

A break in the north levee also added to the danger of the town, and the main force of the Ohio striking the north levee, the rift in the embankment rapidly spread and soon a swift current was dashing through the residence section, carrying all before it. By night the Ohio stood between forty-five and fifty feet, accurate reading being impossible because of the huge swells rolling in.

The entire north and east levees are submerged. The levee boys, heretofore considered impregnable of flood attack, were deserted by the several hundred men who had preferred them to refuge with their families in the highest buildings in the town. The State Guards were transferred from their camps to the refugee camps on the hills when the levees began to crumble before the wind, and water.

During the six hours' storm the big yawls of the naval reserve removed from the second stories of homes, previously considered on high ground, dozens of families who had believed themselves safe. No fatalities, but many narrow escapes, were heard of to-night. The property damage will now run into the millions, $3,000,000 being considered a conservative estimate.

Coughs and Consumption.

Coughs and colds, when neglected, always lead to serious trouble of the lungs. The wisest thing to do when you have a cold that troubles you is to get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery. You will get relief from the first dose, and finally the cough will disappear. O. H. Brown, of Muscadine, Ala., writes: "My wife was down in bed with an obstinate cough, and I honestly believe had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, she would not be living to-day." Known for forty-three years as the best remedy for coughs and colds. Price 50c and $1.00. Recommended by James H. Williams.

If the future is to be judged by the past, it would pay any young person to take a combined course in the Bowling Green Business University at Bowling Green, Ky., because it is a well known fact that every person who has done so at any time in the last ten years has immediately secured a good position. This is the best guarantee that can be given.

RUNNING ON AN EXACT SCHEDULE

Monster Comet Is Continually Traveling

AT SPEED OF 1,500,000 MILES

A Day—Rules of the Universe Which Beat the Boasted Man-Made Laws.

VISITS US EVERY 575 YEARS

We little human beings think we are doing something quite wonderful when we take a train weighing a few thousand tons and bring it through from San Francisco to Chicago on time to the second. And it is wonderful when the fact is considered that less than half a century ago the trip required nearer three months than three days, and such a thing as completing the journey at an appointed minute was out of the question.

This great feat, however, looks a good deal like a child hauling its tin train of cars around the kitchen when one considers the speed of one of the big comets.

There is a comet that comes within sight of the earth every 575 years. Its tail is millions of miles in thickness and many more millions of miles in length. It was first seen, so far as history records, 1769 years before the birth of Christ. In a few weeks it faded from the sky, only to return in 1194 and 619 B. C.—The year that Julius Caesar died—44 B. C.—it came again, returning in 531 and 1106 A. D. The last time it was seen was in 1681, when Sir Isaac Newton beheld it, and discovered that comets are kept in their orbits by the sun, the same as the earth and the other planets.

Two hundred and twenty-seven years have now passed since the comet disappeared. Even if it has been traveling no more rapidly than the earth goes around the sun, its enormous bulk has been shooting through space at the rate of about 1,500,000 miles a day. Yet in 348 years from now—in 2256—this very same old comet that was already a well-known visitor when it looked down upon the deathbed of Julius Caesar will again come within sight of those human beings, yet unborn, who will then inhabit the earth.

Talk about a railroad train going halfway across a continent in three days and reaching its destination on time, what is such a performance as compared with that of a comet that makes a trip of 310,000,000,000 miles in 575 years and keeps so closely to its schedule that it always bursts from the darkness at the moment when the astronomers expect it?

In the light of modern astron-my, comets are now chiefly interesting because they assist in demonstrating the immensity of space and the greatness of the power that controls the universe. But there was a time when comets were alternately feared and praised. In the fifteenth century the Christians, already sorely pressed by the Turks, beholding in the sky a strange visitor, prayed to be saved "from the devil, the Turk and the comet."

The pendulum of superstition had swung to the other side in the nineteenth century, and comets were supposed to have such a beneficial influence on the climate that good crops were sure to follow. Wine growers advertised as "comet wines" the beverages that they pressed from grapes grown in 1811 and 1858, the excellence of which was attributed to the comets that appeared in those years.—[New York Press.

PLEADS FOR FAIR SHOW FOR THE RAILROADS

In two Kentucky counties recently railroad companies were indicted by grand juries. In one instance a company was indicted for the failure of its employees to blow the engine whistle. In the other case the indictment was for excessive blowing of whistles. This leads a Central Kentucky paper to remark that no corporation in the world suffers as much from "adverse legislation and general knocking" as does a railroad.

There is a good deal of truth in the assertion. As a matter of fact, those who are in the business of operating railroads must find it hard to run the roads to suit the public. One class of patrons inveighs against slow trains while another class protests against trains that are fast. One municipality objects to whistle blowing and drafts an ordinance accordingly. Another insists on well-nigh continuous blowing. The railroad companies are harassed by indictments on trivial grounds and they are constantly assailed by damage suits, some of which are utterly without merit. They are looked upon by petty politicians as legitimate prey and they are the target for all sorts of legislation, some of it wise and much of it foolish.

Communities that are without railroads always rejoice at a prospect of getting them. A town without a railroad is inevitably a town behind the times. A county without a railroad is virtually "out of the world." All such counties want railroads and some of them give subsidies and make stock subscriptions to secure them—a sensible thing to do, provided the amounts required are not unreasonable. But once a county gets a railroad, the "hammering" begins, and is continuous.

The railroads should be given a fair show. The county could not very well get along without them. In essential particulars they are, and should be, regulated by law. If held to proper accountability in important things, the public should be satisfied and should give small encouragement to legislative hold-ups and petty persecutions.—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Nothin' 't all, suh—nothin' 't all."

"What made 'em put you in here, then?"

"Well, dey sez, boss, I wuz sont up fur fragrancy."—[April Lippincott's.

SUFFRAGE LEADER GETS LONG TERM

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst Sentenced

TO 3 YEARS PENAL SERVITUDE

Declares She Will Leave the Prison Soon, Either Dead or Alive.

PLANS TO REFUSE ALL FOOD

London, April 4.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the leader of the militant suffragettes, was today found guilty and sentenced to three years penal servitude at the Old Bailey sessions on the charge of inciting persons to commit damage.

The trial lasted two days. The jury added to its verdict of guilty a strong recommendation for mercy, and when the Judge pronounced the heavy sentence of three years, the crowd of women in the court room rose in angry protest.

As Mrs. Pankhurst stood up in the prisoner's enclosure, her sympathizers cheered wildly, and then filed out of court singing "March On! March On!" to the tune of the "Marseillaise."

Mrs. Pankhurst's closing address to the jury lasted fifty minutes. She informed the court that she did not wish to call any witnesses. In her address she frequently wandered so far from the matter before the court that the Judge censured her.

Mrs. Pankhurst denied any malicious incitement. "Neither I nor the other militant suffragettes are wicked or malicious," she said.

"Women are not tried by their peers, and these trials are an example of what women are suffering in order to obtain their rights. Personally, I have had to surrender a large part of my income in order to be free to participate in the suffrage movement."

Speaking with much feeling, Mrs. Pankhurst fiercely criticized man-made laws, and said that the divorce law alone was sufficient to justify a revolution by the women. In impassioned tones she declared: "Whatever may be my sentence, I will not submit. From the very moment I leave the court I will refuse to eat. I will come out of prison dead or alive at the earliest possible moment."

She then repeated her determination to end her sentence as soon as possible, saying:

"I don't want to commit suicide. Life is very dear to all of us. But I want to see the women of this country enfranchised. I want to live until that has been done. I will take the desperate remedy other women have taken, and I will keep it up as long as I have an ounce of strength."

"This movement will go on whether I live or die. These women will go on until women have obtained the common rights of citizenship throughout the civilized world."

Justice Lush said:

"I must pass a severe sentence on you. If you would only realize the wrong you are doing, and use your influence in the right direction, I would be the first to use my best endeavors to secure a mitigation of your sentence. I cannot and I will not regard your crime as trivial. It is a most serious one."

No Vacations.

No vacations, no openings, no closings—this is the rule at the Bowling Green Business University, Bowling Green, Ky. Like Tennyson's Brook, it goes on forever.

WHERE JOKES COME FROM —SOME ANCIENT RELICS

Dr. Harry Pratt Judson, President of the University of Chicago, told the Hamilton Club that his specialists had discovered in their researches that most of the standard jokes now prevalent had been current 3500 B. C.

On bricks taken from the site of Nineveh the various "mother-in-law" jokes were inscribed. Even at that early date the mother-in-law was the "goat" for all domestic trouble. She chased her son-in-law from the domestic hearth, and the young husband is depicted as a frightened person. Babylon at a date several centuries later produced hieroglyphics showing the "ugly man" joke. If the ugly man met any uglier, he had vowed to kill him. The man to be sacrificed was willing because he was the uglier.

Prof. J. H. Breasted, the noted Egyptologist, discovered the variations of the jokes of the bashful young man proposing to the grouchy father for his daughter as early as 3500 B. C. The Egyptians of that period had the jokes of the "souse" who cannot open the door of his dwelling.

Prof. Starr, the famous anthropologist, found in the Philippines and Malay archipelago among the earliest researches, many evidences of the "boob" that rocks the boat and drowns his sweetheart and friends.

Dr. Judson believes the stories now current and forming some of the ammunition of the after-dinner speaker were told at the dawn of civilization. In fact, the chant of the old Whitechapel Club is true:

"In the days of old Rameses (are you on?) they told the same tale, sang the same song."—[Chicago Cor. New York World.

PIERCE FIGHT FOR PIE IN OHIO AND MUHLBERG

In Ohio and Muhlenberg counties there has been an alliance of Progressives and "old liners" for the purpose of winning in the fight for the county offices—a fight for pie, not for principle, because the principles of the two wings of the Republicans are at too great variance for blending by an alliance, therefore must take a back seat while the battle for pie wages.

In every county in the State that we have noted an expression by the Progressives, except Ohio and Muhlenberg, they have rejected every overture made by the "old liners" for fusion in the fight for the offices.—[Owensboro Inquirer.

HEBER MATTHEWS, FRANK L. FELIX, EDITORS.
FRANK L. FELIX, Pub. and Prop'r.

Entered at the Hartford post-office as mail matter of the second class.

Now let springtime come gentle-ly as fast as it can scot.

From general reports it seems that the Webb law will be harder on fishing junkets than most anything else.

The Ohio county Bull Moose is still trotting along under the Elephant's ears, trying to jump onto its trunk for a ride—into office.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen—A fine set of Progressive Party principles, new and practically unused. Finder will be rewarded if he will keep still about it until after election day.

There is some talk of tying a mouse to an invisible string at the entrance to the White House to ward off the threatened visits of suffragists to the headquarters of President Wilson.

Is there such a thing as political conscience? If so, how can these erstwhile Bull Moose candidates of Ohio county reconcile their present political affiliation with their protestations of only a few months ago?

It is said that the new five-cent piece has been dubbed "the Bull Moose nickel." On being asked why it was called that, an old-line Republican replied that a half dozen of 'em looked about like thirty cents.

This general announcement of candidates for office among all parties grants one special privilege and enjoyment. It gives every one the right to think he is going to be nominated and elected for a few months.

We suppose we have about the same excuse for not printing the Moose-Elephant platform recently adopted by a little bunch of fellows in Hartford that editor Barnett had for refusing to print Mr. John Henry Thomas' defense of Republican principles last fall. Mooser Barnett can probably explain.

President Wilson has decided to set aside two hours each week, on Thursday mornings and afternoons, for "heart-to-heart" talks with the newspaper correspondents. During these hours the President will discuss administration policies and sketch his official program, much of the latter discussions necessarily being in confidence and solely for the guidance of the writers.
It is a good policy and will help the administration.

The boys and girls of the farm are among the people who are setting a pace for national development that is worthy of all praise.
In their corn clubs, poultry raising and other forms of farm work, they are "teaching" the old folks something and at the same time reflecting credit upon the whole family for progressive industry of the modern sort. There are few boys and girls of the farm who cannot, if they really try, fail to attain distinction in farm life.

Mooser Barnett, of the Hartford Republican, calls the editor of the Breckenridge News a liar—right in print, too. Seems to be real hot in the collar, with summer time and a warm campaign yet before him.
And all because the News printed a little item to the effect that the Moose leaders of the State were thinking about disciplining Mooser Barnett for amalgamating with the Republicans of Ohio county. Might ugly name to call a brother editor for a very small affront.

There are few things that give more credit to a town or county than a good band of local militia.
In this respect Hartford has been fortunate for a number of years past. Company H, Kentucky State Guards, which is now made a part of the national army, has always embraced a fine body of young men, zealous and loyal in their work and a credit to the town, county and State. They have seen active service on several occasions.
The officers of the company also deserve much praise for the manner in which they have led this company up to its present splendid standing.

The Owensboro Messenger very pertinently calls attention to the rather lax methods employed by the U. S. mail service during the prevalence of high water. It seems that it does not take very much in the way of water or flood to balk the carriers of mail in some sections of the country, which causes great inconvenience to the public.

In many instances the express companies, have gone with packages where the mail folks would not attempt to go. The indifference of some of the latter carriers has caused much delay and complaint.

BULL MOOSE ORGAN ON FUSION IN OHIO COUNTY

The Louisville Herald (State Progressive organ) says:

In the conclusion of its comment on the fact that Progressives and Republicans have fused in Ohio county, the Post says: "The fact of importance in this movement is that the Progressives of Ohio county pay no attention whatever to the daily instructions from Louisville, conveyed by the Herald from the local Progressive Club."

The Post flatters us. Modesty requires that we restate "the fact of importance" thus:

The Progressives of Ohio county pay no attention to the strong recommendation of the State committee of the Progressive party and the judgment of the conference of State Progressives, to the effect that there should be no fusion with other political parties.

In its opposition to fusion the Herald has simply voiced the unanimous opinion of the State committee, with which, so far as we know, the Progressive Club is in entire harmony.

UNIONTOWN HARD HIT BY DESTRUCTIVE FLOOD

Uniontown, Ky., April 5.—Uniontown has been practically wiped out by the flood. Two churches and one residence are about the only buildings not carried away or badly damaged by the torrents of water.
Rev. W. G. Archer, of the Evansville Relief committee, reported that to-day he saw eleven residences being "carried away" by the river at one time. He reported that he saw the home of the mayor of the city collapse. He said that the inhabitants of the town are being cared for at the fair grounds, near the city. There is grave danger of much suffering for want of food.
The wharfboat was blown from its moorings by the strong wind this afternoon and carried a distance up the river. The Wabash elevator reported a loss of 12,000 bushels of corn to-day.

In sixty days our store will close for good. Every dollar's worth of merchandise MUST BE SOLD.
ROSENBLATT'S.

CHILD'S FACE IN WINDOW SAVED WHOLE FAMILY

Henderson, Ky., April 5.—Fred Zahn, a boatman, in crossing flooded area above Henderson, Ky., saw a child's face peeping out of the small attic window of a house with only the roof above the water.
Investigation showed Henry Schnelle, wife and five children in the attic. The father and mother had been without food for three days, and the last meal the children had was Friday morning.

The attic window was too small for the escape of the parents, and to enable them to get out Zahn and two companions had to chop a hole in the roof. They were brought to Evansville and provided for.

An Afternoon Tea.
The Greenville correspondent of the Courier-Journal says:

An afternoon tea was given by Mesdames A. W. and W. G. Duncan, Jr., Tuesday from 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. W. Duncan on Cherry street, in honor of their mother and sister, Mrs. J. W. Richardson, and Miss Annie Richardson, of Hampton, Va., and Mrs.
Frank Felix, of Hartford. The large dining-room was darkened and beautifully decorated in yellow and green, jonquils and ferns in profusion, while numbers of yellow candles burned on the sideboard, mantel and dining table. The centerpiece for the table was a large pyramid of smilax and jonquils, surrounded with candles. The color scheme was carried out in refreshments. Those who assisted in receiving and serving were Mesdames Clarence M. Martin, C. W.
Roark, John T. Reynolds, Jr., and Misses Louise Wickliffe and Helen Puryear. Between sixty and seventy guests were present.

Pitiable Plight.
Pitiable is the plight of the Progressive candidates. In the St.
Louis mayoralty election the choice of Col. Roosevelt, personally indorsed, received 4,611 votes out of 125,000 polled, while in Chicago the new party was outvoted three to one. Alderman Merriam, a former Bull Moose enthusiast, being rewarded for his recantation by an election.—[Louisville Times.]

ORAL MESSAGE BY PRESIDENT

To Congress, Is a Rather New Procedure.

HE WANTS TO GET IN TOUCH

With National Lawmakers
In Order That Harmony
May Prevail.

HE WILL HOLD CONFERENCES

Washington, April 6.—Setting aside precedents of more than a century, President Wilson will appear in the halls of Congress Tuesday to deliver his first legislative message in person. He announced to Democratic congressional leaders to-night that he would go to the floor of the House when it convened Tuesday and give that body his views on the tariff.

This decision of the President evoked much comment. He will be the first President of the United States to appear officially before either branch of Congress in deliberative session since John Adams, in the first few years of the last century.

An attempt was made exactly 100 years ago, in 1813, to revive the custom, but President Madison declined an invitation to discuss foreign relations with the Senate.
Since then no President has even suggested joining in the deliberations of Congress.

President Wilson made his plans known to Majority Leader Underwood, of the House; Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, and other House Democratic leaders, that they might prepare for the event.

The President believes that he can get in closer touch with the members of both Houses of Congress by personally expressing his views to them. In addition to his official visits to the House, which will become a matter of White House policy, the President will take advantage of these visits to hold conferences with the party leaders in Congress.

The President has been told by his friends that such a procedure is fraught with embarrassments unless he tactfully keeps to his purpose merely of giving advice as the leader of his party and offering suggestions to those with whom he confers. Those who have discussed this with him say he is convinced that Congress will not misunderstand his intentions, that he will go to the Capitol in a spirit of friendly co-operation, so that there may be at all times a unanimity of purpose between the executive and legislative departments of the Government.

BARNETT'S CREEK.

April 7.—Sunday School was organized at Barnett's Creek church last Sunday.

Miss Dora Dean Hoover, of near Buford, who has been visiting relatives in this neighborhood for the past two weeks, returned home Sunday.

Miss Luella Hoover, Clear Run, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hoover and family Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Parks, of near Bada, spent last Saturday night with Mr. J. M. Paris and family.

Misses Icy and Mattie Parks, of near Bada, spent last Saturday night with Miss Edna Ferrell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bartlett spent last Friday night with Mr. and Mrs.
Willie Bartlett and family, of East View.

Merger of Mines a Certainty.

The Louisville Times of Thursday says:

Within thirty days, it is probable, the merger of about twenty-one of the principal mines around Central City in the western part of Kentucky, will be completed. The new coal corporation will be known as the duPont Coal Company.

S. A. Yorkes, who represents the duPont interests at Central City, has been in the city for several days. He states that the consolidation which was first promoted several months ago will likely be consummated within the next month.

Don't be surprised if you have an attack of rheumatism this spring.

AN URGENT APPEAL BY STATE HEALTH BOARD

For Cities and Towns To Clean Up—There Is Danger Of Much Sickness.

To the Officials and People of Kentucky: In view of the danger to health and life in most of the river counties and cities from unsanitary conditions and damage to water supplies, which will become more pronounced as the floods recede and the season advances, the State Board of Health, in the discharge of an evident public duty, appeals to the health and civic officials, the newspapers, business men's associations, women's clubs, and the people in every town and county in the flood districts, to call public meetings or in other ways arouse public sentiment for an organized, systematic and thorough clean-up campaign, the free liming and whitewashing of all recently overflowed premises, and the boiling of all suspicious drinking water.

Competent health boards and officials exist in every county and city in the State for just such emergencies, but they are entirely dependent upon the fiscal authorities of the jurisdiction for funds, and upon the people for such co-operation as will make their efforts effective. After the officials do all that is in their power, still more will remain to be done by the individual and family, and no good citizen should wait to be forced to an evident duty, especially as such work and the incident expense will be found far cheaper than the sickness which will follow neglect. Trained inspectors are now in the most exposed sections, but the main responsibility is with the local officials and people, and it is to them that this appeal is addressed.

By authority of the Board,
JOHN G. SOUTH, M. D.,
Pres. State Board of Health.
J. N. McCORMACK, M. D.,
Secretary.

McHENRY.

April 7.—The Socialist party of Ohio county convened in Hartford Tuesday, April 1st, for the purpose of organizing and attending to other matters which might come before said body. Among the speakers were Geo. Barr, of Hartford, R. R.

7; J. T. Maddox, Jr., of McHenry, and W. B. Chinn.

Ed. Chapman was chosen chairman and M. L. Ament as secretary. The convention proceeded to elect a campaign committee. The following gentlemen compose said committee: R. A. Davis, Hartford, R. F. Rone, Centertown; Warren Lindley, Matanzas, and Will Owens, Fordsville. The convention then adjourned subject to call of this committee.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. W. H. Nelson and wife and took from them their precious baby boy, Henry Maddox Nelson. The little fellow was born September 15, and died Saturday, March 22, of bronchial pneumonia. Everything was done to save the life of this child that was known to the medical fraternity. The family physicians, Drs. Smith and Crowder, were constantly in attendance. The funeral services were held at the Baptist church at Beaver Dam, after which the remains were laid to rest in the presence of a large crowd of friends and relatives. This makes the third death in Mr. Nelson's family, the others also dying in infancy. The family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

Mr. Henry L. Render, of this place, has tendered his resignation as vice president and the same has been accepted by the district executive board of United Mine Workers. Mr. Render made an excellent official and had just been re-elected by a large majority. An election will be called to fill said position at once.

Messrs. Everett and Ollis Haws and families, Graham, are visiting friends here.

"POINTERS" ON BUYING A FARM

Of Value To Prospective Purchasers.

IS A CAREFUL UNDERTAKING

Minor Details Which Have Much To Do With the Bargaining.

GOOD EQUIPMENT NECESSARY

Those who wish to earn their living in the country cannot afford to make serious mistakes that cannot be repaired in a lifetime. Writers are advising town and city residents to buy farms, and it is this class especially which needs to know the truth about farms and farming. Unless this class is prepared for the change by right information it may mean a worse condition for them.

In the East there are opportunities for buying good improved farms, with very good buildings, for lower prices than elsewhere in the country, but if these farms were being made profitable they would not be offered for sale. What can be done by the right man in the right place is shown by the fact that part of our Eastern farmers have paid for farms and are now making their business profitable. Investigations have shown that the farmers who read good agricultural journals and keep in touch with State agricultural institutions and progressive agriculture are often making their farms pay more than 25 per cent. on their investment.

To buy a farm one needs a knowledge of about all the agricultural sciences. This knowledge, with present opportunities, is easily and cheaply obtained. Experiment stations, schools and colleges, and good agricultural papers are all ready to help.

A real estate agent, whose business it is to sell a farm, may know but little about it, and he only tells about the good points that he does know. Before the purchaser invests his money he needs to learn about the soil and natural conditions that would make the farm desirable. It is a waste of time to try to farm soils that, because of natural conditions, never could be made to pay good profits in dairy or diversified farming, when there are yet plenty of soils which nature has prepared for man—loam of good depth, laid down on gravel or porous subsoil, that affords perfect drainage and has a capacity for growing all cereals and fruits and vegetables, that is measured only by the intelligence of the farmer.

Farms having the following natural advantages should be bought, if possible: Alluvial or washed-in soil along the rivers and smaller streams—that is, a clay loam on gravel—is preferable. Sandy loam does not hold fertilizers well. It is known as a "leaky soil." "Hardpan" land—loam on impervious subsoil—will need to be artificially drained. Tile drainage will cost about $30 per acre, so this amount should be deducted from the price asked for good loamy soil which is naturally drained in the same locality.

The summer is always the best time to buy a farm, for then one can observe the growth of all kinds of vegetation. One of the best standards of judging of the fertility of soils is to note the red clover growing in them. One is safe to plant any crop adapted to the locality if red clover is making a good growth. If the soil is acid it will cost something in the way of liming and aeration to get it right for crops.

The character of the soil is indicated by the kind of timber growing on a farm. Some of the soft woods, like hemlock, pine and chestnut, are desirable, but first see if the sugar maple thrives. Soil is rich in the elements needed for clover, corn &c., where the sugar maple, beech, birch and other hard woods grow large.

The timber lot that furnishes fuel, lumber and fencing material, and the spring that furnishes pure cold water for the residence and outbuildings, and for dairy purposes, have a value almost beyond estimation. The timber lot covering the steeper portions of the farm prevents washing of the soil, and also conserves the water, and with its underground systems of water veins, is the reservoir that feeds the springs.

If one must go in debt, it is better to pay a large price for a farm with all equipment ready to begin profitable farming at once, than a small price for a farm that is only a futurity. It is better to buy good buildings, when they can be found on farms having the desirable natural advantages mentioned, than to build them. But do not reject a farm because of an old-fashioned farmhouse, if the location, soil and other natural conditions are desirable. Some of these houses were built when lumber was cheap and plenty, with large timbers, and will last for ages.

THE STEADY SUBSCRIBER.

How dear to our heart is the steady subscriber
Who pays in advance at the birth of each year,
Who lays down the money and does it quite gladly,
And casts 'round the office a halo of cheer.
He never says, "Stop it; I can not afford it,
I'm getting more papers than now I can read."
But always says, "Send it; our people all like it—
In fact we all think it a help and a need."

How welcome his check when it reaches our sanctum,
How it makes our pulse throb;
How it makes our hearts dance,
We outwardly thank him; we inwardly bless him—
The steady subscriber who pays in advance.

Bound To Get It.

Tommy, after going to bed, became thirsty, or thought he did. He called out:
"Ma, I want a drink."
The mother's voice answered back:

"Tommy, you go to sleep."
Tommy grunted, turned over, and was silent for ten minutes. Then again:
"Ma, I want a drink."
"Tommy, you go right to sleep," was the reply.

Intense silence again for ten minutes. Then:
"Say, ma, I want a drink."
"Tommy, if you don't go right to sleep I'll come and spank you."
More silence, this time for about two minutes. And then:
"Say, ma, when you come to spank me won't you bring me a drink?"

Well Matched.

A traveller in the West came across two men having a heated argument. The traveller drew nearer and heard:
"What do you know about the Lord's Prayer? I'll bet you ten dollars you can't repeat the first line."

"I'll take the bet," said the other man, and, turning to the stranger, asked him to hold the money.
"Now, what is the first line?"

"Now I lay me down to sleep," "You win," said the first man. "I didn't think you knew it." [April Lippincott's.]

Her Remorse.

"You say your wife threw a plate at you?"
"Yes; it was a fine china plate. It broke against my head."
"Didn't she appear sorry after she threw it?"

"Yes, she appeared very sorry."
"Ah, indeed. And what did she say?"

"She said she was a fool not to control her temper."
"Good. And what else did she say?"

"She said she didn't believe she could match that plate again if she hunted the town through."

THE BABY'S SMILE.

Oh, there's something mighty knowin' in a little baby's smile,
And there's something mighty grippin' in it, too;
An' unless your soul is stunted with the vicious an' the vile
It is bound to make a better man of you.

When the little lips start partin' in to signs of gladness real,
An' the little eyes light up an' sparkle glee,
You forget the day's misfortunes an' the weight o' care you feel,
An' you're sure that you're as happy as can be.

You may be the glummiest fellow ever shrouded in despair,
You may wonder if the battle is worth while,
But your heart will start to beatin' just as though it had no care
If the baby only greets you with a smile.

If you look across the table to the high chair where he stays
And his little eyes look into yours, and then Blaze into joy, as only little baby's eyes can blaze,
You forget the petty meannesses of men.

You forget that you are troubled, you forget that you are sad,
You are lifted for the moment from despair,
And you thank the Lord who made you and who let you be the dad
Of the baby who sits smiling in his chair.

And if came Dame Fortune to you, with her sweetest smile, and said:
"I have hoarded all the money in a pile,
Just give up that little baby and it's yours," you'd shake your head,
And reply: "I'm richer with that baby's smile."

Not the Same.
They were strolling through the woodland.
"Yes," the youthful professor was saying, "it is a very simple matter to tell the various kinds of trees by the bark."

She gazed at him soulfully.
"How wonderful!" she exclaimed. "And can you—tell the various kinds of dogs that way?" [April Lippincott's.]

BANQUET FOR CONVICTS OF JEFFERSONVILLE PEN

In Recognition Of Their Work Of Saving the City From Flood Waters.

The Courier-Journal of Monday says:

A call has been issued for a public meeting of the citizens of Jeffersonville Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the purpose of which probably has no duplicate in the history of this country, the intention being to arrange at the gathering for giving the inmates of the Indiana Reformatory a banquet in recognition of the good work they did in preventing the railroad fill from collapsing for several days and nights during the flood, thus saving the city from inundation.

Without the Indiana Reformatory and the Government Depot, one furnishing labor, the other tarpaulins that could not be purchased upon the open market, it is the general belief that the city could not have been saved from the water.

The place for the meeting had not been definitely decided last night, but it will be in the Elks' Hall if this can be secured.

It is the intention to give an entertainment in the chapel next Sunday, following which the banquet will be served. At the meeting Tuesday night it is the intention to provide for funds to purchase the following supplies for the banquet: Chicken, 1,600 pounds; sponge cakes, 175; layer cakes, 175; ice cream, 100 gallons; oranges, 175; frozen apples, eight barrels; candy, 300 pounds. The amount of money required for purchasing the supplies is estimated at between $500 and $600, which it is expected will be contributed by the residents of Jeffersonville whose property and business interests, valued at thousands of dollars, were protected.
